Make your next Business Dinner a passport to the world of Business Legends

Dear Mr. Willman,

I have a very special offer... an offer carefully designed for select businessmen like you.

You understand the value of business dining. You have dined for business in many major cities worldwide – Paris, London, New York – and you know its crucial role in business growth. So for upcoming 2015 World Trade Conference at San Diego, wouldn't you want to host dinner meetings at a premier venue in the city?

Today I am very excited to tell you about such a perfect venue. A restaurant with a great location and finest cuisines. But that's not all. What makes this restaurant truly exceptional is a variety of premium services geared towards your business. Services those guarantee your business growth at every dining meeting, every time, and not just in San Diego, but at every major city worldwide!

Mr. Wilman, I am talking about San Diego's SelectView Premium, a restaurant designed mainly for businesses. Along with fine dining experience it offers ease, convenience and award-winning quality-of-service which you as a business owner deserve. And all these without charging a fortune, unlike other restaurants of comparable standard.
